

Blood flows through a coronary artery that is partially blocked by deposits along the artery wall. Through which part of the artery is the flux (volume of blood per unit time) largest?

1. The narrow part.
2. The wide part.
3. The flux is the same in both parts.

